

Travel with a Purpose

Choose from three 'travel with a purpose' experiences: volun-tourism, eco-tourism and edu-tourism. Programs last between a day, week or several weeks.

Volun-tourism

This form of social engagement offers an opportunity to interact with a local community, its children and caretakers. The result is a deep and rewarding experience and presents the opportunity to develop sustainable friendships.

Programs include: orphanage visits, youth projects, cross-cultural exchange, donation of school supplies and other valuable resources, as well as lending support for extra-mural activities.

Eco-tourism

These projects aim to support conservation and wildlife projects in southern Africa. They provide you with the opportunity to gain conservation skills, experience both culture and wildlife, and have a life-changing adventure at the same time.

Programs include bushwalks, camping and education seminars, hands-on animal care and conservation management, anti-poaching and game reintroduction initiatives, as well as rehabilitation and research projects.

Edu-tourism

Edu-tourism focusses on cross-cultural exchange in the sharing of personal work experiences, skills and talents with those who have similar interests. The initiatives, which bring together people from different cultural, ethnic and socio-economic contexts, promote mutual understanding, diversity and respect.

Programs encompass engaging with organizations such as the Girl Scouts of South Africa, orphanages and youth educational programs, as well as interaction with universities.
